

DESU + KA?

Kore wa Takoyaki desu ka?
これはたこやきですか？

Is this Tokoyaki?

Japanese sentence structure is usually start with Subject and end with the Verb. No changes to this order in Question form.

“KA” is added after “desu” to make the sentence Question.

Same as English pronunciation, Ka will end with little higher note.

@Gindako, Shibuya Toko.

Kore wa Takoyaki desu-ka?
Is this Takoyaki?

@Isshin, Ueno Tokyo

Koko wa sushi-ya desu-ka?
Is this a sushi Restaurant?

Tekka maki desu-ka?
Is this Tuna Roll?

Kore wa Nan desu-ka?
これはなんですか？

What is this?

Nann =What.
 You can simply replace the noun from the other sentence, replacing the takoyaki with nann(what) to ask simply ask what is this.

Kore wa nann desu-ka?
これはなんですか？

What is this?

Kore wa Uni (sea urchin) desu.
これはウニです。

This is Uni (sea urchin).

Examples

- | | |
|------------------------------------|-------------------------|
| Kore wa Okome desu-ka? | Is that rice? |
| Nick wa France-jin desu-ka? | Is Nick French? |
| A-re wa nann desu-ka? | What is that? |
| Kore wa Osake desu-ka? | Is this alcohol? |
| Sore wa mizu desuka-ka? | Is it a water? |

Words

Osake	おさけ	Alcohol	Or can be sake
Be-ru	ビール	Beer
okome	おこめ	Rice	Or can be just Kome
France-jin	フランスじん	French	Jin is person
America-jin	アメリカじん	American
Mizu	みず	Water
Sore	それ	It	